

This book is for people who enjoy art and who want to heal on a deeper level through creativity. I wanted to create this book where art takes on a whole meaning and its just not about one artist, but three. There is a massive connection between the artists art and the viewer of the art but no connection is alike, so I felt I had to make the book so that a lot of people can connect with it because art is truly a magnificent outlet. The book also contains poems that are to the point, they are for every age group. Words have so much deepness that it does not take a lot of them to make a poem meaningful. I invite people to take the time to think on a whole new different level, to be open to the possibilities that there are a lot of healing remedies and creativity is one of them. I have made it so all artists receive commission from the sales of the book so when purchasing you will truly invest in something meaningful, thoughtful. Xandra Breban
